

RE: Noreen Ward and The Gift Designers

Living on the other side of Canada from my family is difficult ... especially at Christmas. For the first eight years of my life in Calgary, I spent weeks in advance putting together parcels to send back home; spending a small fortune in shipping that often over-shadowed the value of my gifts.

When I discovered Noreen and The Gift Designers, I was finally able to put more value towards spoiling my family, rather than pay postage – each gift basket I've sent has been painstakingly gathered and arranged to perfection, and shipped as one wonderful present back home for my family to enjoy as it was meant to be: together.

I may not be able to go home every Christmas, but thanks to Noreen: I am finally able to send custom arrangements of wonderful foods, beverages, gifts, and general pampering to my family without having to budget as much for getting it there. She and her team offer incredible service and effort for every gift I send back – from customization requests to quality and uniqueness of products, and for that: I will always choose them to spoil my loved ones when I cannot be there in person.

Likewise, when a client of mine deserves some appreciation, The Gift Designers never fails to impress with their general thank you baskets that can appeal to a wider range of tastes and pleasures. Their online order site makes it easy to find and send a gift for absolutely any personality.

Thank you.
